The For Rama 108 Poems are a collection of 108 poems dedicated to the Hindu god Krishna, composed by the 16th-century poet-saint Surdas. The poems explore a wide range of themes, including devotion, love, and surrender. They are considered to be some of the most beautiful and moving devotional poems in the Hindu tradition.

The poems are written in a simple and direct style, and they are filled with vivid imagery and emotion. Surdas was a deeply devoted follower of Krishna, and his poems reflect his intense love for the god. He sees Krishna as the supreme being, the source of all love and joy. He sings of Krishna's beauty, his compassion, and his power to forgive.

The For Rama 108 Poems are a powerful expression of devotion and love. They are a testament to the beauty of the Hindu tradition, and they continue to inspire and move people today.
